Try These April Fool’s Pranks

10 cruel tricks to play on nice, innocent people

Compiled by
The Bronc Bugle Staff

April Fool’s Day pranks you might want to try.
Caution: some of the following are very mean and should be used only in extreme situations!

The bathroom: The White House of pranks, this room is brimming with potential.

1. Put a saran wrap on the toilet bowl. An old but effective prank. Just don’t do it in your bathroom, or you’ll have to deal with the mess.
2. Wet all of the toilet paper in the bathroom. This way, people will be too grossed out to use it.
3. Put an “Out of Order” sign on all of the stalls in the bathroom.
4. Remove all of the shower curtains from the showers.
5. When someone is showering, take the towel and place it across the windows from the showers. This will gross out to use it.
6. If you want to erase your roommate, duct tape them into their room. They can always get out through the window.
7. To kill two birds with one stone, tie two doors together. This works best if the doors are across from each other.
8. This one’s really mean, so use with discretion. You fill a garbage can with water and then place it in front of someone’s door so that it will fall over when it opens. This floods their room.
9. Glue packets of soy sauce and various condiments to someone’s door. When they try to take them off, the packets explode.

‘Teach a child to read and he or her will be able to pass a literacy test.’

—President George W. Bush

10. Put Vaseline on the phone receiver. Messy and smelly!

General meanness: You don’t need to be at Rider to prank…

11. Leave a note on someone’s car apologizing for hitting the car. One guy spent literally an hour circling his car, looking for a mark.
12. Take the labels off a spray paint bottle and a hair spray bottle and switch them. Imagine the possibilities…