Juniors Lacey Korevec and Bill Greenwood visited Princeton University and The College of New Jersey campuses to sample the food and compare it to that of Rider. Cheeseburgers, pizza, grilled cheese, cheesesteaks and desserts were just a few of the many dishes that were critiqued in the effort to determine which school has the best food. While on the subject of sandwiches, at TCNJ one can choose any combination of meats, cheese and bread. If that is not enough, one can then take that sandwich and have it turned into a grilled panini, all for the simple price of saying “please.” On a typical day, Daly’s has only one particular passion available, like it or leave it. One of TCNJ’s daily features was turkey. Once ordered, the amount requested was hand-carved and served hot. The slices were thick and hearty and smothered in creamy brown gravy. As for college food goes, it was a real treat.

It is safe to say that the pizza could easily outdo any other school. The College of New Jersey’s pizza was of the highest quality and its juices were absorbed instantly, students could be observed quietly watching TV, playing professors get together, holding the Cranberry Cafe. While the Cranberry Cafe dominated in the dessert category, other schools did not only have to offer those of respected restaurants. The College of New Jersey also serves desserts, but also to those of respected restaurants.

To help switch up the monotony of the same food daily, students may consider taking a trip to Daly’s food has its good days but certainly is not always the cream of the crop. Daly’s TCNJ’s main dining hall is all-you-can-eat. While it features food similar to Rider’s, it often differs and, in some cases, better varieties of traditional Daly’s meals.

As far as the available options, TCNJ’s most delici- ous dish was bowl bread chicken sandwich. The chicken was of good quality and the buns were grilled and hammed, making the sandwich flavorful, even without lettuce, tomato, cheese or other condi- ments. Though Rider’s chicken patties are not bad, the chicken is sometimes questionable and the buns are often flattened by the other sandwiches, which are piled on top of them.

The quality of the desserts was also unbeliev- able. Apple pie, mini chocolate mouse pies, sugar cookies, carrot cake and ice cream listed the glorious dessert section. Though there was a great selection of toppings, including Oreos and Reese’s Pieces, the ice dessert section. Though there was a great selection of toppings, including Oreos and Reese’s Pieces, the ice cream was watery and a huge disappointment.

On the other hand, provides ice cream of the right consistency as well as the best cookies. In sugar and chocolate chip cookies are more often than not, too crumbly. In Rider’s case, by all.

The TCNJ cheesesteak was very similar to Rider’s, with the only difference being that the buns were toasted. This was a nice feature and seemed to help the whole sandwich stay warm.

There are several things that Daly’s does well, one of which is its grilled cheese sandwiches. Rider’s grilled cheese dominates over TCNJ’s, which was more like a cold cheese sandwich rather than a proper meltdown. Blissful indulgence.
