No car? No problem!

Rider students utilize the bus or train to get to many of their favorite destinations, including home. Train stations are conveniently located just a few miles away, at Trenton, Princeton Junction and Hamilton. You may travel via New Jersey Transit or Amtrak. For closer destinations, NJ Transit is a cheaper option. For example, currently a round trip ticket from Princeton Junction to Penn Station, NYC, is approximately $14. A train ticket from Princeton Junction to Penn Station, NYC and local areas: (1-800-626-RIDE)

Princeton Junction Train Tickets:
$14.50 round trip to Penn Station, NYC and local areas: (1-800-626-RIDE)

Trenton Train Tickets: $15.75 round trip to Penn station, NY

Spirituality does not have to be left at home

Just because students leave home does not mean that their religion has to be left behind.

Rider has met the spiritual needs of students with the formation of four religious organizations on campus. They are the Hillid Student Society, the Muslim Student Association, Rider Association of Protestants (RAP) and the Catholic Campus Ministry (CCM).

“CCM is beneficial to the Rider community because it allows freshmen and returning students to get involved,” said Father Bruno Ugliano.

Rider’s campus ministry offers various service learning programs such as International Volunteer Program; Jamaica where students can work with residents of the Jamaica area.

Times for Protestant, Catholic and Jewish services can be found on Rider’s website. For more information on services or how to get involved contact Father Bruno Ugliano at (609) 896-0394.
