And More Sports...
The field hockey team won a big game on Wednesday Oct. 1, defeating Quinnipiac 2-1. This marks the first time Rider has defeated them in the regular season since two years ago. Last year, Rider beat them in the NEC Championship game.

Athletes of the Week
Christina Ang, a junior member of the field hockey team, has been named The Rider News Female Athlete of the Week. Ang scored the game-winner in overtime against Quinnipiac.

Dan Winokur, a sophomore member of the golf team, has been named The Rider News Male Athlete of the Week. Winokur was named Rider’s Male Athlete of the month.

of the week for the second straight time and the Governor’s Cup offensive MVP Wollenberg earned the MAAC defensive player of the week with an outstanding three games that consisted of 15 saves and only two goals allowed.

Although individual achievements are nice, they do not get in the way of the team’s true desires. Coyle said that these honors don’t change the desires. “We played only a half of the game, the second half was horrendous,” said Coyle.

The two recent losses against Army and UMBC do not bring worry to the Rider squad, Coyle said. Coyle said. Coyle said. Coyle said. Coyle said.

“We must continue to pass to each other and continue to execute our game, we will be very successful,” said Wollenberg.

Coyle said there is room for improvement.

“We must play a consistent 90-minute game to be successful,” she said.

Junior Leah Craig said there is need for improvement.

“We must continue to pass to each other and play as a whole,” she said.

Head Coach Kevin Long sums up the team’s needs by saying, “We must be consistent with our style and play so then everything will fall into place.”

Player of the Week
Tami Coyle was named Rider’s Female Athlete of the Month. Coyle leads soccer in scoring and ranks second in the MAAC in goals per game and third in points per game.

for the entire student body. From racquetball to aerobic or dance studios, you can do it all there. There will also be a glass-enclosed lobby that will sell concessions and offer cafe-style seating. Connecting the two gyms will be a concourse that will serve as a Rider Hall of Fame, including memorabilia and portraits of past Rider greats.

But it’s all about the Benjamins. The irony of the situation is that if Rider can ante up the money, within a few years, with proper marketing, we will be reaping its rewards. Simple economics: if you spend one dollar to get two back, that’s good business.

Think of all the financial possibilities. Imagine last year’s MAAC Tournament being held on campus instead of at the Sovereign Bank Arena. Better facilities means better recruiting, which means better competition, which means more money. And with more money, can I dare say, a few years down the road, a football team?

But before we start inviting Notre Dame or Miami here on Saturday afternoons, we need to get on the ball. Maybe then when a recruit comes to Rider, he won’t need to use his imagination to see the new athletic center.
